THE WASHINGTON BEE.

The Bee
—IS A—
GREAT ADVERTISING MEDIUM.
TRY IT!
Do you want reliable news? Do you want a fearless race advocate? Do you want colored trade? Read and advertise in THE BEE!

VOL. XVI. WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1897. No. 27.

HON. B. K. BRUCE, REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

JUSTICE JNO. H. O'DONNELL,
The next Judge of the Police Court.

THEY SAY.

Liars are generally found out.

Don't get jealous of your friends.

Be true and honest to those who aid you.

False friendship will sooner or later find its level.

Be what you are and nothing more.

Bruce is the coming man in this country.

George A. Myers of Cleveland, Ohio, is a great political organizer.

Never betray your friends, even if they are wrong.

Prof. J. W. Williams of the national committee is a polished gentleman.

Senater Hanna will return to the city soon.

Col. S. A. Perkins can read men.

He is young, but he is a philosopher.

Some people state that a thing is wrong before knowing it to be so.

Lynch is still at Hill's stable door.

Mississippi will be united soon.

Col. J. W. Ross is the colored man's friend.

Be what you seem to be and nothing more.

A fierce man is a liar and cannot be trusted.

A man who will not tell the truth to any one, is a dangerous man.

Fortune of the Age, made a great speech.

Speak the truth always and you will make no mistake.

A change in the Police Court is an absolute necessity.

President McKinley is a great civil service reformer.

The President may think he is right, but the country is opposed to it

If the republicans hope to win by keeping democrats in, they are mistaken.

What use is it to vote to keep yourselves out and your enemies in?

If democrats are to be kept in, what is to become of republicans?

E. B. Hughes is making a hard fight for republicans.

The BEE never tells a lie.

If you see it in The BEE it is so.

Dr. J. R. Francis is not a candidate for the Freedmen's Hospital.

If The BEE doesn't continue its support of men who cannot win, it is abused.

The BEE is the people's paper.

The world is in a stew.

New made honors turn some people's heads.

Never allow position to make a fool of you.

You may put a fool in office, thinking that you will teach him sense, but, he is still a fool.

It is not necessary to let everybody know that you are a fool.

Look wise although you may be a fool.

Don't tell all you know it may do you harm.

Justice O'Donnell is the people's choice.

Bishop Arnett is a smooth talker.

Secretary Bliss is a positive man.

There are sone negroes in New Orleans who are opposed to the blacks.

This color question is a dangerous thing to handle.

Commissioner Ross is complimented by the people.

Republicans are being driven into the democratic party.

Do you want to know the news?

If you do read The BEE, the greatest organ in this country.

Editor Cooper didn't have much left after dividing $66.75 between his printers.

There are but few negro democrats now.

Grover Cleveland is not in the dance in 1900.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Our esteemed contemporary, The Post, seems to be considerably wrought up over the application of the Monroe Doctrine to the Haytian situation, which is being discussed among diplomatic circles in this and other countries. It seems hat The Post is opposed to offering protection to Hayti on the ground that this government can not afford to dabble in the petty disputes of inconsiderable South American republics, and takes occasion to refer to the past conduct of Hayti as a reason for with-holding friendly aid or interference. This is indeed a remarkable position for a paper like The Post to take. Hitherto The Post has, if we mistake not, been among the foremost in advocacy of the Monroe Doctrine, as one wisely advocated by our statesmen and one of the instrumentalities through which the United States may maintain power and influence as the leading nation on this continent.

The policy of this country has been to foster sentiments of friendship with all of the smaller republics on this continent, and has on more than one occasion indicated a disposition to go to the extent of war in defense of the Monroe Doctrine. Strange that the Post should take a backward step in the case of Hayti. Perhaps opposition grows out of the fact that the Haytian government took a manly stand when the agents of this government demanded the Mole of St. Nicholas in opposition to the best judgement of the Haytians. Perhaps, also, it is because the government in question consists of men of African descent, and perhaps the Post would desire to show that that government need not expect any favors or friendship when it goes so far as to oppose the unjust demands of this government It may be true that the general feeling towards people of African descent is none the best. But it is a strange departure from the unusual course pursued by leading papers to justify bullyism and national prejudice behind the flimsy pretext that the Monroe Doctrine is insufficient to pursue a course of fairness and humanity. A great nation can always afford to be magnanimous, especially when it is pursuing a settled policy, even if the nation concerned is of the proscribed and much abused African race.

GOOD WORK.

The interest taken by Supervising Principal Brown in the movement to encourage parents and guardians to attend the schools is a highly commendable one. Were all of our principals equally interested and energetic the cry of idleness and petty thievery which is constantly going up from the whites would be silenced The Southwest Citizens Association are also to be congratulated upon the meeting of Wednesday night in furtherence of the movement inaugurated by Dr. Richardson and Principal Brown.

If our newspapers are to be believed, down in South Carolinia they take a suspected Negro and burn him to the stake, and then put him in jail to await a fair trial.

BRUCE REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

To those who have watched the appointments made by President McKinley, the selection of Hon. B. K. Bruce to represent the colored people in the exalted position of Register of the Treasury is not a surprise On the contrary, it has always been regarded by the foremost of the colored citizens of this country as a logical sequence, owing to his splendid abilities and great popularity. Register Bruce enters upon the duties of his position with the hearty indorsement of the entire race. The President could not have made a better appointment or one which will give greater satisfaction. At no time has Register Bruce been doubtful of his appointment if it was to be the policy of the President to give the place to a representative colored man. His competitors, while perhaps, deserving recognition for party service were, in no sense, regarded by the President and the leaders of the party as in anyway affecting the merits or superior claims of Ex-Senator Bruce. By selecting so competent, astute and brilliant a person to represent our race the President has cemented all of the factions into one body in full accord. and at the same time shown our people that he has studied their wants, and is disposed to satisfy them. We most heartily commend the President for his magnificent recognition.

BRIG. GEN. GEO. H. HARRIES.

The elevation of Maj Geo. H. Harries to the command of the National Guard, D. C., has given unbounded satisfaction to the citizens generally, as well as to those most nearly affected. Even those having other preferences personally acknowledge its fitness. The papers which politely phrased it that Gen. Ordway always consulted and relied upon the judgement of Maj. Harries, did not overstate the case, much of the success of Gen. Ordway was due to Maj. Harries, who stood modestly in the background, and helped on the cases.

It is to be regretted that that fine soldier and gentleman Col. Cecil Clay felt called upon to resign, under the mistaken (but honest) opinion that the elevation of Maj. Harries was a reflection upon his able administration of a year past. The office of Brigadier General does not of necessity fall in the line of promotion and in many things, notably in securing the aid of Congressional legislation. Some one not connected with the Department can be more effective. Now let the new Brigadier General among his first duties give the First Separate Battalion a real head, which it has not had for several years. Capt. Arthur Brooks deserves the promotion.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The public schools belong to the public, and in justice to our citizens school affairs should be conducted wholly in the publics interest. Teachers who are incompetent or immoral have no just claims upon the public and should be treated accordingly. Trustees who conduct their affairs as though the schools belong to them should be made to understand that they are but the agents of the people, and are bound to conduct schools fairly and fully. Personal preferences are very well in their way, but they should not be carried to the extent of doing an injustice to the public.

RETURN OF SENATOR HANNA.

Marcus Aurelius Hanna will be in the city next week to meet his senatorial brethren, some of whom expect to give him the farewell shake when the session's toil is over, but, unless all signs fail, these self same senators will be compelled to postpone the shake for the period of at least six years. The Senator does'nt like such shakes and will, no doubt, make many shakes before he is shaken.

There will be some changes to take place soon.

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM.

We are greatly in need of a reorganization of our public school system. There seems to be a leak somewhere and it should be found, and that soon. In the industrial department of the public schools those small and inexperienced boys should be removed as teachers. Hundreds of dollars are being wasted with no results. The assistants in our industrial school should be displaced and their places filled with good, experienced teachers. It is about time to overhaul the entire public school system.

We have no grade meetings in the colored schools, no lectures for the teachers. and it is a question whether they know if new and improved methods are being taught or not.

OUR NEW COMMANDER.

The appointment. by the President, of Major George H. Harries as the successor of the late General Ordway is a handsome tribute to a worthy and enterprising young man. Major Harries has won his way by merit alone. The President could not have made a better selection, and it is gratifying to know that merit has been rewarded and not favoritism.

The industrial department of the colored schools is greatly in need of reorganization. The committee ought to place competent men in the school and dispense with some of the incompetent boys who have been appointed. It is a waste of money without realizing any benefits.

There is a new lyceum started and its first public exercises will be held to morrow afternoon, in Odd Fellows hall. This is a liberal view lyceum.

Some time during the month of August a colored boy was arrested and sentenced to fifteen days in the work house because he refused to go in the house when had been ordered to do so. He was sitting on his own step.

Judge Kimball has sent many a vagrant to the reform school which is contrary to law.

You can only be sent to the reform school when you have committed some criminal offense and under the age of sixteen.

The young ladies in the Recorderers office are on the anxious seat.

The people are looking for the appointment of a new school trustee.

The Public Printer will make a few changes among the undesired force.

If the democratic party comes into power in 1900 it will teach republicans what civil service is.

Now that Major Harries has been made Commander it is hoped that he will give the colored battalion a first-class major.

THE BEE extends its congratulations to its genial friend, Major George H. Harries, on his appointment as General of the District militia.

Congress will convene next Monday and it is hoped that something will be done.

The people want suffrage restored. It is hoped the will of the people will be carried out.

Congressman George W. Murray is fighting for his seat. We have a republican House of Representatives and fraud, for once, should be repudiated.

If you want to know what is to happen you must read THE BEE.

The democratic party is not a thing to die.

The President will send in several names next week.

THE BEE will give you reliable news on dark subjects.

WHAT I SAW AND HEARD.

The common talk now is that there will be a change in the police court judgeship. The Kimball crowd has resorted to all sorts of dirty work to blacken the reputation of gentlemen who may aspire for judicial honors.

The outlook is that republicans in the District will be taken care of very shortly after the Ohio legislature settles the senatorial fight. The friends of Senator Hanna are confid nt that he will be returned to the Senate.

Major Harries must be a very popular man as well as a very useful man. He could have been Chief of Police or anything he wanted if he so desired. Now that he is General we may look for a reorganization of the National Guard. Major Harries is just the man. He is a live and wide-awake article.

From the present outlook there is every indication that there is to be a re-organization of our public school system.

We hear very little of the original McKinley man now. It was a chestnut, and but few worked it successfully.

Perhaps a few of the boys will return home wiser and better men

Congressman Murray is in the city. He is pushing his claim and, quite likely, he will be successful in gaining his seat.

There is a great deal of jealousy against Ex-Congressman Murray. He is one of the few colored men in North Carolinia who has nerve, and should win. The colored man, as an independent, will some day win.

There is a general complaint, on the part of the people, against the methods that are being adopted in the industrial school. That school is greatly in need of a reorganization.

The baby Senator from Maryland has sued the editor of the American for libel. If that was only a negro editor would'nt he be soaked?

There is a general complaint against a few men from the South who have asked the retention of a number of colored democrats. How can colored republicans hope to be appointed or reinstated in their old places when so-called representative colored men ask for the retention of these colored democrats? These negroes came to the city with brass bands and bass drums and labeled: "We is democrats, yes we is, and we wants negro republicans removed." This was their war cry when Cleveland took his seat. Every negro republican in office was threatened with dismissal if he did'nt contribute to the corruption fund, or the bureau of negro democracy. It was THE BEE that exposed these impostors and caused the civil service to investigate and convict the chief mogul. These very men are now, and have made, appeals to colored republicans for aid, and they have no better sense than to aid them. You can see starving colored republicans on the streets, in the high-ways and by-ways, which is the result of negro democratic duplicity and treachery, and yet these very men are still retained in office and protected by this sham called civil service. The people will not stand it, and their opinion can be better known in a few months.

ROUNDER.

The next judge of the Police Court will be John H. O'Donnell There will only be three names considered, O'Donnell, Pugh and Kimball.

The trial of Dr. Williams will revive the Pinkney matter of several years ago.

There will be one more change on the school board.

The colored democrats are very well satisfied.

JESSE ROY, ESQ.

Mr. Jesse Roy, who died on the 27th of November, was one of the best-known young men in this city. He was an authority on all sporting matters, and would often be selected as referee in fistic combats. He was a well-read man as well as a positive man. His funeral from Mt. Jezreel Baptist Church on last Tuesday was largely attended. Rev. R. E. Hart, of Israel Methodist Church, preached a most eloquent sermon.

NATCHEZ, MISS., DEC., 3, '97.

Special to The Bee.

Editor of THE BEE:—Hon. John R. Lynch, the man who turned Jim Hill's face to the wall while he was in Washington, is here looking after his private interest. But, at the same time, he is keeping his fingers on the latch string of Jim Hill's stable door.

JIM HILL BUSTED.

Jim Hill came to town riding a blind high horse,
Said he would sink the Party if he couldn't be boss.

The white trash he appointed, and the negroes he ignored,
Until Lynch appeared one morning at his stable door.

He went to the White House, and he swelled around,
He wanted to be collector at New Orleans town,
Full many a scheme he had in store,
'Til Lynch took charge of his stable door.

The departments he thought were run by himself,
'Til the Administration laid him on the shelf,
Then cried he, poor fellow: "Boys, I'm busted sure,
For I see that darned Lynch at my stable door."

He returned to Jackson, cadaverous, poor thing,
With his foot in his hand and his head in a sling;
The negro props he could lean on no more,
Since Lynch had charge of his stable door.

Cheer up, my dear Jimmie, and arouse your muse,
And hold your little office which others refused,
You're tetotally busted and this you'll know,
Your friends are disgusted and will follow no more,
For Lynch is picking his teeth at your stable door.

THE ANGELS OF THE GUARD.

(To the late Brigadier-General Albert Ordway.)

BY COMRADE SAMUEL ADAMS WIGGIN.

They camped around his dying bed,
They soothed his weary aching head,
They folded him to rest when dead,
Our General of the Guard.

They gently clasped his tired hands,
They sweetly sang of lovely lands,
Where heroes march in shining bands,
Our Angels of the Guard.

They closed the tender loving eyes,
They bore his soul thro' azure skies,
They oped the gates of Paradise,
Our Angels of the Guard.

Our General of the Guard is gone,
From earth unto the Father's throne,
His comrades here bereft, alone,
Brave General of the Guard.

Now silently the comrades weep,
Their General in his last long sleep,
They mourn with sorrow, true and deep,
Dear General of the Guard.

The boys with beaming eyes of blue,
The boys with skin of darker hue,
The boys with hearts all warm and true,
Our General of the Guard.

A General of the Banner bright,
Fair Freedom's Flag, our heart's delight,
To-day in golden armored light,
Our General of the Stars.

Some day he'll greet us all again,
Some day upon the heavenly plain,
Some day a grand melodious strain,
The golden trumpets call.

They camped around his dying bed,
They shed a halo round his head,
They bore his soul to Heaven when dead,
The Angels of the Guard.

WHY JUDGE KIMBALL SHOULD BE REMOVED.

A PRACTICE THAT THE PEOPLE CONDEMN—NO LAW FOR IT.

Up to a short time ago Judge Kimball imposed some of the most ridiculous fines that has ever been known to the judiciary in this city. The chief among the imposition of sentences was in craps and other games. If a person plead guilty, he would impose a fine of $5. If he did not plead guilty and was convicted he would add an additional $5.

A young colored boy was setting on his front steps during one of the hot summer months and an officer requested him to go into his house. The boy of course, refused which he had a right to do. The testimony of the officer was that he had ordered the boy to go into his house.

Judge Kimball asked the boy why he refused to obey the officer. The reply of the boy was that it was too warm to sit in the house.

He was given fifteen days.

From the report of the Commissioners, on pages 14 and 15, the following can be seen:

"The health officer reports that out of 223 cases filed for unlawful privies, in only 32 cases were fines imposed, while in 105 other cases of conviction under same charge, personal bonds were taken. Concerning the effect of this practice upon his department and the public health he submits the following:

In the enforcement of the health ordinances this department is required, after the discovery of a nuisance, to notify the responsible party to abate it within a specified time. It is only after failure to comply with the terms of the notice that the warrant is asked for, and the case referred to the police court for settlement. The practice, therefore, of permitting the defendants in such cases to go without punishment results in the continuance of the nuisance for an unnecessary and unreasonable length of time, to the danger of the public health. It brings into contempt the notices of this department, persons notified and their neighbors soon becoming aware of the fact thot the police court does not enforce compliance with the orders of the health department. It necessitates an unnecessary number of inspections in such cases, thus preventing the inspectors from examining as large a number of premises as would otherwise be possible, and increases the average cost of each case inspected. It results in an unnecessary number of cases reaching the police court, in view of the contempt into which the notices of this department are brought, so that the inspectors lose valuable time while waiting to be heard as witnesses in such cases.

I am aware that it is pleaded in justification of the practice of accepting "personal bonds" that it is the case, notably with reference to persons charged with violating the health ordinances, that the defendants are poor, and that it would work a hardship to require them to pay fines or to be imprisoned. In such cases, if they are too poor to pay the cost of abating the nuisance pro or to the expiration of the time allowed by the health department, their "personal bonds" are probably worthless; nor can I see why they are any better able to abte the nuisance after having given their "personal bonds" than they were able to do so within the time allowed by the health department.

To sum up, the practice of taking "personal bonds" resnlts in the continuance of nuisances for an unnecessary length of time, and increases the cost and diminishes the efficiency of the inspection service of this department.

Captain Burr, assistant to the Engineer Commissioner, reports upon the practice as follows:

The majority of cases carried into the police court by the water department are on account of wasting Potomac water, either through leaking fixtures, or through leaving fixtures open, or deliberately securing fixtures so as to have continuous flow of water. Case on account of leaking fixtures are taken into court only on failure to repair them after due notice has been given.

It has been found that the taking of "personal bonds" is practically of no effect in securing compliance with the regulations. The fact that the court imposes no punishment in many cases acts as information to the guilty party, and others, that the regulations of the department can be violated with impunity. It requires repeated inspections with a force already inadequate for proper inspection service, and much loss of time attending the police court as witnesses.

The waste of water in this city is large, particularly at certain periods of the year, and the supply is much below the demand. If a remedy for deliberate and wanton waste cannot be had through the police court, the waste must either be permitted to continue, to the detriment of the water service, or must be punished by cutting off the supply of water entirely from the premises. A remedy that the department is very loath to adopt.

The Commissioners are advised that there is no authority of law to justify the taking of personal bonds in these cases after conviction, and that the penalties of the bonds are absolutely uncollectible, and are never intended to be collected; that it is an absolute ending of the case; a conviction without a punishment, contrary to the law in such case made and provided.

It is useless to try to amend existing laws now inoperative for want of penalties, if the penalties when provided are to be ignored and the personal bonds of the offender substituted therefor. This practice, which no doubt springs from the most humane considerations, is a serious menace to the public health, an obstruction to the enforcement of the laws, and should be discontinued. All sanitary laws should be rigidly enforced if any reduction in the high death rate is to be expected.

In view of the serious consequences which the taking of personal bonds involves and the long establishment of the practice, the Commissioners are constrained to recommend, in the interest of the public welfare, that its discontinuance be directed by Congress."

WEDDING BELLS.

Special to The Bee.

A representative of THE BEE left for Richmond, Va., on Thanksgiving day to attend the marriage of Mr. Leonard L. Hughes, of this city, to Miss Ruby Pearl Page, of Richmond, Va. The marriage took place in the Third Street A. M. E. Church at 7:30 o'clock P. M., Rev. Holmes officiated.

The bride was beautifully dressed, as well as her maids, Misses Maggie Turner, Hannah Reid, Lizzie Burrell and Nettie Forester. The best man was Mr. Henry Smith, and the groomsmen were Messrs. Burton Smith, Edward Clay, Wm. Scott and Dr. Phil. B. Brooks, of Washington, D. C. The ushers were James A. Turner, Joseph S. Burrell, Jr., Cable Oliver and Wm. Ferguson At 7:30 o'clock sharp the bridal party arrived at the church, preceded by the ushers, then the bride, on the arm of her brother, Mr. Edward A. Page. The church was crowded with some of the most distinguished citizens of Richmond, Va. The bride is prepossessing and one of most popular young ladies in the city of Richmond. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the residence of Mrs. Smith, the bride's aunt. Afterwhich Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were escorted to the depot by her maids, groomsmen, ushers and quite a number of friends where they took the train for Petersburg and Lynchburg. They arrived in this city last Saturday and are now stopping at No. 419 Third street, southwest.

BRUCE AND ARNETT.

THEY WILL WORK TOGETHER FOR THE RACE'S BENEFIT. HOW THE GREAT AFRICAN BISHOP ENTERTAINED THE EX-SENATOR.

Bishop Henry W. Arnett of the African Methodtst church, is no doubt one of the best known men in this country. When ex-Senator Bruce and the great African Bishop, met in Ohio, they put their heads together to combine the colored vote. They were looking ahead for the future benefit of the race.

BISHOP B. W. ARNETT.

The reception that the Bishop tendered to Mr. Bruce, is said to have been one of the grandest in the State of Ohio and the Bishop is one of the few representatives of the race who knows how to entertain. It is gratifying to know that both of these gentlemen intend to work, in the future together, for the elevation of their race.

No man is more respected than Bishop Arnett, who from what The BEE understands is more largely responsible for so many colored appointments being made.

The country will be pleased to know that Bruce and Arnett will work in union for the upbuilding of the race.

THE DOUGLASS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.

CONCERT AND CHARITY BALL PHILADELPHIA.

This enterprise is attracting very much attention and has excited much interest among our citizens. Some of whom have already entered their names as visitors on that occasion. With a few more, the half rate is confidently assured. Major Fleetwood requets that names prospective visitors be sent in to him at once. Travel will be by the Royal Blue, on the B. & O. the finest in the world. Tickets good from Thursday to Monday. "Now is the time to subscribe."

WILL PROTEST.

A PETITION AGAINST MRS. ALICE STRANGE-DAVIS.

There is a petition in circulation protesting against the appointment of Mrs. Alice Strange-Davis. Upon what grounds the protest is based The BEE is unable to state. It is an easy matter to charge unfairness, but to prove it is another thing. The committee state that the examination was fiair and just and that Mrs. Davis stood the highest. Unless there is positive proof, The BEE would advise that the protest be not presented, because some one may regret it.

THE COMING SOCIAL EVENT.

The coming social event will be the marriage of Miss Alice Johnson, of this city, to Dr Daniel H. Williams, Surgeon-in-Chief of the Freedmen's Hospital. It is said that the lady is making great preparations, and that it will be one of the most fashionable affairs that has ever taken place. Dr. Williams is well known throughout the country, among all classes, as a physician of eminence.

ALEXANDRIA NEWS.

(All orders for advertisements, job printing, or news notes will be carefully attended to, if sent to the above address.)

Entered into the rest of Paradise, on Saturday afternoon, November 27, 1897, at his late residence, 2316 H street n. w., Washington, D. C., Isaac N. Tancil, jr., the youngest son of the late Isaac and Louisa Tancil, old and respected citizens of Alexandria for a number of years. The heart of the writer of these lines is so full that he cannot speak as he would of the great loss his family and friends, the church and the entire community, have been called on to sustain. To his devoted wife and children, whose hearts are crushed by this sudden visitation of Heaven, their grief no one can fathom.

The funeral took place from the Alfred Street First Baptist Church Tuesday at 2 p. m. The funeral procession came from Washington by way of Arlington. Rev. Alexander Truatt, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Gaines and Rev. Willis Robinson, of Fredericksburg, Va., officiated. The ceremonies were very impressive, and there was an unusually large crowd of sorrowing relatives, friends and admirers of the deceased present, many of whom shed a sympathetic tear at the bier of our appreciated dead citizen.

The pallbearers were Mr. W. H. Whiting, Mr. Charles Cabaniss, Mr. T. Montgomery Watson, Dr. W. H. Madella, Mr. Pinn, and Mr. John Brown. Interment at Bethel Cemetery. The survivors of the deceased have the tender sympathy of the community in general.

Miss Bettie Brice was in the city Tuesday, and looking well.

It has been definitely decided that a negro cannot hold the position of collector of port in this city.

Mrs. Louisa R. Cabaniss, principal of Hallowell School, was taken suddenly ill a few days ago and was compelled to close her room.

A beautiful memorial to I. N. Tancil, from the pen of Mrs. J. M. Layton, was read at the funeral Tuesday.

Miss Fannie and Miss Sallie Moten, of Washington, D. C., was in the city Tuesday and attended the Fauntleroy funeral. Miss Fannie Norris Fauntleroy was a very estimable lady, very respectfully connected, and in the '70s was one of the most prominent society women in Northern Virginia, a position which she retained until she left here for the Eastern country, where she resided several years. She was one of the few women of our race who could speak and write fluently five different languages. It was always her pleasure to give an idea of many of the scenes and incidents of European life. The many years of her residence in the Eastern country, when prosperity dawned upon her, she seemed to always think of the elderly mother and father.

Mrs. Julia Mason-Layton, of Washington, D. C., was in the city Tuesday and attended the Tancil funeral.

The condition of Capt. Daniel W. Chinn continues unchanged.

Christmas in Virginia will have its charms as usual.

Will Dr. Purvis cease abusing people who do not agree with him.

What promises The BEE made him.

How do you like the new Register of the Treasury?

Why The Colored American had four candidates for Register of Treasury.

Is it not better to let your friends know where you stand.

If Editor Cooper is not obligated to Mr. Gaines of Kentucky.

There is not a bit of unwritten history in the life of Mr. Gaines in the interest of Editor Cooper, while in Kentucky.

IT IS RUMORED.

Congress will abolish the civil service.

The industrial department in the schools will be reorganized.

Major Geo. H. Harries may be General Ordway's successor.

Robert H. Terrell would make a good prosecuting attorney.

He will probably be given a chance when the next District attorney is appointed.

C. Maurice Smith is in the lead of all condidates for the District attorneyship.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

WAS THE SUBJECT OF EDITOR FORTUNE'S ADDRESS BEFORE THE BETHEL LITERARY.

That was a distinguished audience that greeted Editor T. Thomas Fortune at the Bethel Literary on last Tuesday night. Editor Fortune's subject was "Thomas Jefferson," and, among other things, he said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: It is a relief to turn away, if but for a moment, from the aches and the heart-burnings of contemporaneous men and policies to the men and the policies of other times, to forget the present in a brief survey of the past, to forget that we are making history in a study of the work of those who have made history. It is a common complaint that the men of our times do not bear any comparison to those of the past; that the issues which engage our attention and determine our course of action are tame and commonplace as compared to those of other periods of our history. But it is a fact, I believe, that each generation produces its own men and its own issues, and that they will be regarded with admiration by the students and patriots of the future as we now regard those of the past. Standing close to a mountain it is impossible to estimate its vastness and its grandeur. "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view." The further away we get from the past the more accurately are we able to estimate the issues which were living and the men who shaped them for the weal or the woe of the Nation.

Biography is history. History is biography. They do not deal with abstractions, but with accomplished facts. The decline and fall of the Roman Empire and the rise and expansion of the United States; the decadence of Spain and the growth of Great Britain—this is history, the record of human effort, the biography of individual success and failure. Marius in the ruins of Carthage, more desolate than the shadows of vanished glory that darkened the African skies; Washington at Yorktown, standing upon the prostrate form of a crushed tyranny, hopeful that a great and free government would arise out of the victories he had achieved; Napoleon chained at St. Helena and Grant unfettered at Appomattox—Europe released from the iron grasp of one all-masterful tyrant, and parcelled out among a dozen, with all of the Corsican's vices and fon of his virtues, with all of his weakness and little of his strength; America, freed from the curse of human slavery and threatened dismemberment—the biography of the man, the master of the hour, is the history of his race, of his nation, of its aspiration after the sublime and the good, after the enlargement of human liberty or after forging the fetters that doom the helot to his fate.

Man is the unit of the world's thought and action. He is the central and determining force in the economy of Nature. Pope rightly says: "The proper study of mankind is man." Ralph Waldo Emerson says: "Nature never rhymes her children, nor makes two men alike." As the bolt of lightning that darts from the heavens and zigzags its way to earth, so with the genius that darts from the womb of nature and begins to work out its mission among men, no man can tell the course it will take, what wonders it will perform, before it has burnt its fierce fire to ashes.

The multitudes of mankind who have lived and hoped, who have despaired and died, who have built monuments that sentinel the highways of time, or, like the Goth and the Vandal, have left a broad pathway of destruction and ruin, committing to flame or flood or base uses the priceless accumulated treasures of centuries of thought and effort, the legitimate heritage of mankind—these countless multitudes, from the plains of Shinar to the plains of Waterloo, have no monuments. They are "unknelled, unhonored and unsung." As multitudes they sank into the oblivion from which they were drawn by the Supreme Architect, disappearing like morning mists pierced by the rays of the sun, leaving no memorial of their passing. Well might the sweet singer of Israel exalt the horn of the Everlasting and weep over the frailty and mutability of human kind. To all intents and purposes, the multitudes who have peopled the earth were created simply to illustrate the genius of an individual here and there—some universal poet like Homer, "the blind old bard of Scio's Rocky Isle;" some military scourge like Alexander the Great, who conquered the world but could not conquer himself; some orator like Demosthenes, whose eloquence was a greater defense to Athens than "an army with banners;" some Franklin who captured the lightning and some Edison who harnessed it to the uses of man; some Sheakspeare to whom articulate and inarticulate, physical and material nature, was an open book; some Napoleon, to crush the divine right of kings and aristocracy and priesthood, and to reassert the eternal truth that all flesh is clay, whether clothed in purple and fine linen or in rags and tatters, whether it sits on a throne or grovels in a mud hut, for he was the world's greatest democrat, who was compelled, but with no more reluctance than Julius Cæsar, perhaps, by the condition of French and European politics to take upon himself the supreme powers of government. The multitudes appear to have lived and died, for the most part, that a few hundred men might live forever in song and story. How few are the names that have a page in the history of the race! How few who are all-powerful in one generation and remembered in another! The strongest tree in the forest falls, and the echoes of its collapse have hardly ceased to be heard before it is hewn into blocks, fed to the hungry flames, and is forgotten. It is even so with the strongest, the greatest, the truest, of humankind.

Students of psychic phenomena have been much puzzled by the fact that Thomas Jefferson seemed to refute in his intense love of freedom and in his detestation of tyranny the accepted theory that heredity and environment are the determining forces in the formation of character. He was not only hedged in on all sides by the system of slavery, but he was himself a slaveholder by inheritance and remained one to the end of his life. And, yet, no American statesman was more thoroughly convinced of the inhumanity and the economic dangers of slavery than Thomas Jefferson. Nay, more; no American statesman labored more earnestly than he to prejudice the public mind against the theory and practice of slavery, and in all of the public acts in which he had to do with the system he sought to destroy it. Among the very first acts of his career as a legislator was a blow aimed at the slave system; and the Declaration of Independence breathed a spirit of freedom so broad and intense that it will stand while the Republic shall stand as the sublimest and most comprehensive expression of human rights in the civil compact.

Mr. Charles H. Watson begs leave to announce to his many friends and acquaintances that the first anniversary of his new place of business will take place at 513 and 515 Q street n. w., Friday evening, December 10th. There will be music from 8 to 10 p. m. Mr. Watson has a dining room for ladies and gentlemen. Don't fail to attend. Free admission.

It adjusts itself so perfectly to the rupture that it is impossible for it to become displaced.

It permits the utmost freedom of motion with perfect safety.

All uncomfortable and injurious steel spring pressure is avoided.

It can be worn in bed, a great desideratum to the young as tending to a perfect cure.

It is the only suitable truss for children and females.

The proper amount of pressure can be brought to bear and maintained in any position without pinching or harm to the wearer.

It will cure hernia if placed on the patient sufficiently early.

Excepting umbilical, it is the best truss ever offered for all kinds of hernia.

It is so perfect and comfortable in its adjustment that the patient in a short time forgets he is wearing it. (See the certificate of Mr. Daniel Johnson.)

Education teaches politeness, but some so-called teachers of education fail to practice what they preach.

The person who teaches one thing and does to the contrary is a hypocrite.

Essie:—Address your commnication to the society editor. However, I am opposed to women lawyers; that is, I don't object to them learning law, but I don't like to see them pleading in the courts. When a woman attempts to do everything a man does, it has a tendency to lower the estimate of women. The Police Court is no place for a woman in any capacity.

Josie:—Flirtation demonstrates a woman's character. Acquaintanceship by flirtation convinces a man that a wife of that kind would not suit him.

Mary:—If you think you will be satisfied you had better consult your parents and inform them that the young man is about to ask for you. By all means allow him to ask before you commence to prepare. Your parents may refuse and as they are the better advice, you both should consult them. I don't approve of marriage without parental consent, for when they refuse, they usually see a flaw.

Business:—Because you do not like the girl, is no reason why you should not be courteous while in a business capacity. When will our women learn some sense.

Dela:—Oh no, I do not approve of acting friendly towards a person when you dislike him. No one but a deceitful person could act this way.

Elsie:—I am of the opinion that a widower should marry a widow, and a bachelor an old maid. Of the two I would advise you to accept the attention of the widower. Bachelors are queer, fickle beings and are hard to understand. I would not recommend grass-widowers or grass widows to any one.

Ed:—Be more steadfast If you want office stop going to school and seek one. It is impossible to take a normal course, study pharmacy and work in the government service and make success of all

Inquirer:—Just why Mrs Terrell resigned the control of the Love Joy school is, I suppose, best known to herself. She gave her reason at the board meeting, which was possibly true. Oh yes, she is a thoroughly educated woman, but just whether or not she is easy to approach, I am not able to state.

Trustee Brown's point to confine the election of musical director to the four teachers now in school, was well taken. Since we are to have an examination, I am of the opinion that the one who makes the highest percentage should have the place, be it a woman or man. Some of the contestants naturally have a gift for music, while the others are book-learned.

Allie:—A good housekeeper, knows how to economize and once recognizing this spirit in a house-wife, the husband will entrust his saving to her care.

Girls never see their folly until it is too late. Don't be carried away with a man because he spends his money freely, for such men usually do so to make an impression,

T.—It is not customary for a gentleman to give a lady anything in the line of wearing apparels as a present. I have known some to give gloves, but I do not approve of it

Never speak ill of a person without cause.

F. T—Money makes some people lose their heads, and a good position sets them crazy. One should never forget from whence he came.

Education without manners and refinement shows a lack of good home training. Good rearing doesn't always speak for itself, because one out of three daughters or a son is bound to go astray, matters not what the teachings may be.

Inez:—I see no harm in going to the matinee. If it is against the decipline of your church, you should not go, as when you joined the church you promised to abide by the rules. I have seen trustees of churches and even preachers at theatres, but this is no example for you. Where the sin comes in is to say you will refrain and then do to the contrary.

B.—Since he seemingly likes another girl, you should break the engagement before he has a chance to do it. A man who tries to pay attention to two girls at once, cares for neither.

L.—Out of a little, one should always try and save a little. Any one earning a regular salary can accumulate a home.

L. B.—A good man skilled in speak makes a fine orator. Don't consider yourself an orator because you can read well, an essay, neither think you are an elocutionist because your gestures are many.

Helen:—Do not buy needless things even if they are pretty and cheap. Nothing is cheap that you don't want.

Bride:—Have your dress made with a detachable train, as it will be more serviceable. By all means have it cut high in the neck. Brides should look as modest as possible. White satin is always in vogue for such occasions.

Gossip:—When you are talking about other people's affairs, remember that your own business is going alone.

Treat people as they treat you. Too much anxiety about others welfare is seldom appreciated,

EDITORIAL SYNOPSIS.

The time has arrived for elections in the lodges, and I will say look well to the East. Bear in mind that by your ballots you select your officers; bear in mind that no one brother is married to the office. We think that for the next year, with very few exceptions, a general change will benefit the fraternity. Be particular in selecting for the next year. I desire to call the attention of the brethren to article two, section sixteen, viz. "Past Masters qualified to become members of the Grand Lodge are such that have been duly elected and installed, and served one year in the office, and who are contributing members of some subordinate lodge of this jurisdiction, and those appointed at the formation of the Grand Lodge." Second, "that lodges under our jurisdiction, working under dispensations, the same holds good until the charter is placed in the possession of the lodge." Article 4, section 2, third: "Bear in mind we are between two fires, in order to have success we must put out the fire nearest the powder magazine and then it will be very easy to subdue the other. He that smokes Spanish tobacco knows something and pay more attention to the advice of the craftsmen in the future" etc.

Sharif Jesse K. Roy, 33°, of Kalif Alee, entered the unseen temple November 27th. Peace be unto his ashes.

Illustrious John P. Jones, 33°, Grand Commander of 33° Masons, instituted at Duluth, Minn., Morning Star Consistory 32°, J. H. Richey Council of Royal and Select Masters, Christian Temple of Mystic Shrine and Mecca Court, Daughter of the Sphynix. It is a cold day when Brother John gets left. As I said before ignorance cannot compete with influence and intelligence in this day and time. What we did fifty years ago cuts no figure in this day and time—up and doing or removed from the scenes of actions. Oh! no, oh! no.

Queen of the East Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, of Washington, D. C., has selected the following officers for the ensuing year: Brother D. F. Seville, 33°, Worthy Patron; Sister A. E. Garnett, Worthy Matron; Sister Anna Dabney, Associate Matron; Treasurer, Brother John S. Brent, 33°; Secretary, Brother F. A. Jackson, 32°; Conductress, Sister J. R. J. Jackson; Associate, Sister Rosie Ridley; Warden, Brother Alexander Dabney; Sentinel, Brother Henry Schuler, 32°; Adah, Sister Alice Johnson; Ruth, Sister L. Blackston; Esther, Sister Thornton; Martha, Sister Sarah Shilds; Electa, Sister Julia Jackson.
